Adam,

Not sure where the years are going, they just seem to be passing us by. We still think about you all the time and never forget your happy smiley face. We have Clara now & know you would have been a great babysitter when we needed you! You were always so good with kids. Alan misses you too & we often speak about you. Your lovely face is still in my favourite Waterford crystal frame that Alan said I would of course use it for you & no one else! Keep watching over us all & add Clara to your list now too.

All our love always,

Caroline, Alan & Clara xxx

Remembering
Cillian Minnock

To my darling boy,

I often wonder what you would be like now – as I wonder what you were like (cheeky, I'm told!) Distance between us means I never got to know you – we did meet once but you were too small to remember ... So I never really got to know you, my beautiful nephew-my deepest regret, believe me. But know that you are,
and will always be, in my thoughts, in my life. Your memory will never fade but rather, guide me through my life.

I love you Cillian. WE ALL
LOVE YOU.

To my angel in the sky,
I wonder if you are nearby.

My world will never be the same,

Without you calling out my name.

We miss you more each and every day,

I wish this pain could go away.

From your energy and electric touch,

To how you wound your brother up,

The little things we miss so much,

To hear your laughing and wipe your tears, and watch you growing through the years.

To my angel in the sky,

Rest In peace,

Spread your wings and fly

Remembering
Órla Rose Mullins

To my beautiful baby sister. Although you are no longer a baby, only 2 months and 11 days away from becoming 10, you will always be the first miracle to enter my life. I will never forget rushing to meet you in the hospital the day you were born. I counted 10 tiny toes and 10 tiny fingers. You were the most beautiful and cutest baby girl I had ever laid my eyes on. And the best part was you were MY sister. I was 9 when you were born, perfectly old enough to appreciate every tiny little thing you did. Right up to the day I lost you and for the days to follow, I will always love you as much as I did that first day I met you. Now almost 20 and pregnant with my first baby boy, it breaks my heart that my son will never meet his beautiful Aunty Órla Rose. I know you will always watch over mummy and I. I also know in my heart you will watch over my baby and my future children. I love you so much baby girl and I miss you so much each day.

This hurt will never go away only be numbed with time. The only thing to keep me sane about why you had to go was for you to no longer be in pain. God saw how perfectly special you are and decided he could no longer have you in pain, so he gave you your angel wings and wrapped you in his arms. Fly high my beautiful Órla Rose and Breathe easy baby girl

To our beautiful son Cillian,

Words are inadequate – they could never express the loss and devastation we feel since you died two years ago. It feels like a lifetime since we last saw you; held you in our arms; kissed you on your forehead under your curly mop of hair. Not an hour goes by when we don't think of you and wish that things could be different.

You should still be here with us and with your little brother Darragh. And now you have another brother or sister on the way and it makes us miss you all the more. We had an amazing almost three years with you, you brought so much joy and laughter and love into our lives – all taken away from us too soon.

You are, and always will be, our little superhero. Wherever you are little one, we hope that you're okay and that you're happy.

Know that mummy and daddy miss you so so much and that we love you and will never stop loving you.

We will never forget you and all you gave us in your short time here.

Blowing you kisses...

Love always,

Mummy, Daddy
and Darragh xxx

“A bud the gardener gave us, A pure and lovely Child, He gave it to our keeping, To cherish undefiled, Then just as that bud was opening,
To the dawn of a brand new day, Down came the Heavenly Gardener, And took our Bud away. Find the softest pillow Lord, To place Mag’s head upon, Place a kiss upon her cheek, And tell her it’s from Mom.
